The Admission of Virginia.

WASHINOTON, Jan. 3.—During the month of December the Postoffice Department established one hundred and one postoffices, discontinued thirty-eight, re-established forty-one, and changed the names and sites of twenty-five. In that time 464 postmaters were appointed. The letter-carrier system in Indianapolis was insugurated on the fat of January, 1809, between which time and the lat of December there were $46,677 letters and 106,000 newspapers delivered and 278,441 letters collected, such month showing a large increase. During the five months over 2,000 postoffice boxes were given up.

Judge Hawkins' Resignation—Reorganization of the Judiciary—Railroad Indebtedness—Georgia Legislature.

Issectial bursaich to the fourier-Journal.

Nasswill, Jan. 3.—1 short time since Judge Hawkins, of the Spireme Bench, tendered his resignation, to take effect on the Isl.

Immediately before the close of the year he withdrew his resignation, a fact which is suppised to have some political significance. The three Supreme Jud es are Bepublicans, and it is sormised by some that Hawkins received an intimation from Washington to hold on h who of a possible compilation growing out of the action of the Constitutional Convention. It appears to be the impression that the convention will reorganize the Judiciary of the State from the Supreme Court down.

From Comptroller Blackburn I learn the only roads of the State which have paid the interest on their indebtedness up to the first of the year are the N. and C. railroad, which has paid its interest in full; the Massissippi and Tennessee railroad, ten thousand dollars; and the Momphis and Ohiorond seventy-one thousand dollars. Not a cent has been paid by any other railroad in the State.

ROUND-ABOUT.

L. Medora Leigh.

Dr. Charles Mackay, an English poet of medicere force, has issunched forth again as a prose writer. He has edited a book entitled, "Medora Leigh, a diary and an autobiography." Medora Leigh, a diary and an autobiography." Medora Leigh, was the fourth daughter of Mrs. Leigh, the sister of Lord Byron. The book is remarkable, inasmuch as it is another chapter in the Byron calumny, and written to disprove the horrible story of Mrs. Stowe. The extracts from it are of such a character that they cannot be published in this hitted without offending decease and good normals. The revelations are peculiarly painfail and sickening in their nature, and it is to be regretted that another word should have ever been written on a subject which it was hoped had been consigned to oblivion.

II. "The Twelth Michi Resultant"

Mr. Davison.

There is no task more agreeable than that imposed upon us of chromeling the evidence of the high estimation of her personal character and the appreciation of her musical culture, as shown in the testimonial concert to be given on Wednesday evening, at Welsiger Hall, by a number of our well known citizens, to this lady. Possessed of a voice of rare beauty, compass, sweetness, pathos and cultivation, she has placed it at the service of charity and illied its cofters when other m had failed. Her generous amiability in a plying cheerfully with the many demands i her time and voice, are known to us all, are piesaure she has given thousands have heard her, merits a substantial reationality. He makes "Haniet" more of a nomantic and meditative disposition than a shilosophic one. The strictest attention is iven by him to the most minute details of cenery and stage-appointments. Everything nuatural, stilled and "stagy" is avoided, its conception of this and other characters is ovel, original and natural, and his acting ankes a new era in the history of the stage.
